After successfully installing iAtkos by following the instructions on these two links, I faced a few problems.. The one that was shown on the installed Mac had 16 numbers/letters I'm not sure what to do about the ethernet problem or the Mac Address problem.

I tried to repair this using my Windows CD but it couldn't be repaired I checked online and it said to go to the command prompt and enter these codes: diskpart select disc 0 select partition 2 active exit bootrec /rebuildbcd (partition 1 is my recovery partition, partition 2 is my windows partition, partition 3 is my mac partition) That was to get Windows to work again.. A recent hardware or software change might be the cause To fix the problem: Insert disc, choose language settings, click next, repair.

 At the iAtkos menu, select the name of your iAtkos USB drive/DVD, by using the left/right arrow keys on your keyboard, and then press the enter key (or return key) to start the OS X Mountain Lion installer.. I successfully installed iAtkos v7 on my hard drive Before installing, I partitioned my hard drive.. The Windows partition still had that temporary profile problem Mac still worked but I had no internet access so I couldn't do anything on the computer.. It only allowed me access via firewire and I don't access the internet like that.. And Problems 1 On Mac, I had no internet access It wouldn't read my ethernet for some reason. The only way for me to install Windows again was by formatting the mac partition as well.. I put in my Windows installation CD to install Windows I formatted my Windows partition so that I could install it on it but I got a message saying Windows could not find a compatible partition to install in or something along those lines.. When I did this, the Chameleon bootloader was gone and it automatically went to Windows.. My router was configured so that it only allows access to systems that we supply the Mac Address for.. The recovery partition said BOOTMGR is missing Press Ctrl + Alt + Del to restart.. I could no longer access Windows Vista I saw the Chameleon bootloader when I started my computer but when I select Windows NTFS, I get a screen that says: Windows failed to start. ae05505a44 John Deere Engine Serial Number Decoder
